Baby Potty Chair

Raising a child can be real challenge right from the inception, especially for a mother. This begins when you have to stay up nights when the child is an infant, right to the moment when they leave home for college. A really sensitive time for a child is when they start to be toilet trained. The change from the diapers to using a toilet can be very confusing at the beginning. They are going to have to be trained to use the toilet when nature calls, instead of just relieving themselves like when they had diapers on. It is, therefore, very important to train them well without putting them under too much pressure.

When training a child to use the toilet it is crucial that you choose carefully between a toilet seat and a baby potty chair. While many argue that a toilet seat is much better, there are others who counter argue this. A toilet seat may be more convenient than a baby potty chair since it does not have to be cleaned. This is also argued to be more hygienic than a baby potty chair. A toilet seat, however, may not be as convenient as baby potty chair for a little child. Toilet bowls are almost always higher than an ordinary child can reach. Unless your child is tall, he is going to find it hard to get on to the toilet to take care of his business. This can be a real disaster if your child happens to be in a rush. Considering these factors, a baby potty chair just might be a better option.

When buying a baby potty chair, too, there are many things to consider. To give your child the most comfort you are going to have go by these factors when buying a baby potty chair. Toilet floors are something that should be considered when buying a baby potty chair. Slippery tiles on the toilet floors could have your child sliding all over the floor. This can be really uncomfortable. A grip on the bottom of the baby potty chair will easily solve this problem. Another factor that is very important is the cleaning of the baby potty chair. It should have a pot that can be removed in one simple step and should not have many curvatures and crevices. This will make sure your child's baby potty chair is easy to clean so you do not have problems when cleaning it. Finally, it is also a good idea to have more than one baby potty chair in case you have a large house with more than one toilet.

Baby Potty Chairs

When we were growing up, we didn't have many fancy things that children have nowadays. From clothes to toys to even electrical gadgets, children in present days are way, way ahead of us in every manner. And to add to all these wonderful things are special baby potty chairs.

Yes believe it or not, now your little one can be toilet trained on fancy baby potty chairs. So let's go through a few of these innovative designs and see if you would like to be, or more over your little bundle of joy would be a proud owner of one stylish baby potty chair.

First up we have the Bruin's 3 in one toilet trainer. These baby potty chairs are a potty bowl within a toilet trainer seat and it doubles as a footstool when the lid is closed. Innovative isn't it? The bowl is removable when you need to clean. This potty is simple and recommended as it is also not that expensive. Yet a minus point would be that this baby potty is a little bulky.

The Cheeky Rascals trainer toilet is a very simple and easy to clean potty. These little baby potty chairs come with a little molding at the back which help your little one feel a bit more secure when he or she needs to go. But if you are looking for something that looks nice and fancy this potty chair may not be what you are looking for.

Next we have Baby Bjorn potty chairs. These baby potty chairs come with a high back support and removable inner potty which also contains a splash guard. Your child can sit comfortably and well supported and you don't have to worry about them falling from the sides as these potty's are kept at ground level. The lift out bowl in this baby potty chair is an excellent idea as it is then faster and easier to clean. If you have a small house this potty may tend to take a lot room. Because of its bulky shape, this potty is not easily transportable. This is a definite down side to these baby potty chairs.

The musical potty and step stool is a very unique and creative potty. The flush on this little baby potty chair is in the shape of the loo-lid and the soft seat has a deflector shield. The soft seat on this potty is removable and also becomes a training seat. When the flush is activated is also activates music! These baby potty chairs are ideal when you want to train your little one, yet it is very pricy and bulky.

So there you have it. A few baby potty chairs that have come newly in to the market. Choose wisely!

Babyborn Potty Chair

Every parent dreams of giving the best that they can get when it comes to their children. Whether it is food, education, toys or anything else, it is the dream of each and every parent to provide their kids with the very best of everything. Because they want to give the best to their children, parents look for trusted and well known brands of things.

Potty training is an important event in any kid's life. If the child is not potty trained properly at the proper age, he can face a lot of problems in the future. Because of this most parents seek the best of things when it comes to potty training their kids too. When talking about providing the best when potty training, Babybjorn potty chairs come to anyone's mind effortlessly. Babybjorn is a well known and trusted brand in the world of potty chairs. The fact that Babybjorn potty chairs come at quite reasonable prices makes it all the more popular among parents.

Comfort is important during potty training. If your child's potty chair is uncomfortable and difficult to sit on, he might start refusing the potty chair. After a child makes up his mind to dislike something, it will be next to impossible to convince him/her to try it again. This problem is greatly reduced in Babybjorn potty chairs as they come in comfortable designs. The comfortable arm and back rests, smooth surfaces, and comfortable seats in Babybjorn potty chairs will make your child's potty time a happy one.

Babybjorn potty chairs come in an array of different colors. This gives you the opportunity to choose your kid's favorite color. Colors play a significant role in the case of children. A Babybjorn potty chair in the kid's favorite color will make it easier for him/her to adapt to the potty chair faster. The fact that he/she can choose the potty chair on his/her own in a color that he/she likes will mean a lot to your kid.

Another thing that most parents say about Babybjorn potty chairs is that they are easy to clean. Cleaning is a job that parents end up with after their kids are done with the potty chair. Therefore it is important that you choose a potty chair which creates minimum mess, such as a Babybjorn potty chair. They have high splash guards which do not create any discomfort for your child. The potty is also easily removed from the potty chair and do not have the tendency to get stuck to the chair.

Best Potty Chairs

When considering the best potty chairs, you should remember that there are many aspects that you need to look into before you make any purchase decision. The fact of the matter is that there are many options which are out there for your perusal. This will certainly help you consider what exactly will appeal to you. It would be a good idea at this point to scour what is available online so that you are more in tune with the many options that are present out there. Having said that this is not all you need to consider.

When considering the best potty chairs, remember that chairs which are made out of plastic could very well be the best kind. The two main factors here which need to be considered would be that of functionality and practicality. The reason this is important is because when it comes to a generic product such as this, there is hardly much innovation that can take place. In light of this the best potty chairs all depends on what exactly you prefer. Moreover, it also needs to be said that there will not be that much of a difference when it comes to finding the right product.

As mentioned, what you really need to gauge the best potty chairs with would be the type of material that has been used, the design, versatility and the concept of functionality. All in all, these few criteria will help you make the right decision. When considering the best potty chairs, you must note for yourself the real purpose of this product. Ask yourself whether you are buying it for an ill patient at home or for travelling purposes. Another decisive factor which needs to be mentioned when it comes to the best potty chairs would be the size.

Finally, when concerned with the best potty chairs, remember that there is hardly much of a price difference at all. This is due to the fact that it is a generic product with hardly much brand differentiation being exerted. Hence, the price structure across the range will hardly be that different. Having said that, you must understand the underlying factor concerned with price. Most manufacturers who do make potty chairs sell it to various buyers who in turn brand it differently. So essentially you could be paying an exorbitant sum for what is intrinsically the same product. The only way you can avoid this would be to do a thorough search before making any hasty purchase decision.

Child Potty Chair

Watching your child grow up is the most memorable time period in your life as a parent. From the first time they take their own steps, to the time they say their first word, to the time they use the potty by themselves for the first time, these precious times will not come back again and you would want to make sure that they are as memorable as they can be. If you share the same opinion as mentioned above about the learning curve of your child, then this article is just for you. Because in this article we will be discussing about a subject that has a direct impact to the learning process of your child, about child potty chairs.

Babies show sign of readiness to use a child potty chair between the ages of 18 months and 3 years. These signs would include wanting to wear regular underwear, staying dry for at least 2 hours at a stretch, and being uncomfortable with dirty diapers. When a child shows these signs he or she should be slowly introduced to a child potty chair.

When purchasing a child potty chair there are several factors that should be taken into consideration, such as the gender of the child, what sort of things he or she likes and feels comfortable around, and the manufacturer. These things should be taken into special consideration if you are not the parent of the toddler you are buying a child potty chair for, as it is not unusual for another family member to get a potty for the child. Therefore it is wise to consult the parents about this information, especially about things such as what materials the child like and dislike. For instance one child might feel comfortable in a wooden potty chair while another would dislike it.

Another thing that should be taken into consideration when buying a child potty chair is the manufacturer, as a potty chair made by a reputed manufacturer is likely to be safer than the other ones.

As mentioned before, the sense of comfort the child feels should be given high priority when getting a child a potty chair. Therefore one should be careful about the design of the potty chair. Getting potty chairs that have pictures of their favorite cartoon characters could prove to be an easy way to make your child feel relaxed at the potty. The fact whether the chair is covered from sides or not might also play a hand in this, as some children feel safer and comfortable in such a chair while others don't like it.

Musical Potty Chair

Most parents would agree that potty training their child is one of the hardest jobs that they ever faced. While a handful of lucky parents have kids who smoothly adjust to the potty, most parents have to endure at least a brief potty resistant stage with their kids. Potty training your child takes a lot of patience and effort. Musical potty chairs are an invention that helps most toddlers to have a smooth transition from the nappy to the potty.

Musical potty chairs make music every time the kid uses it. This encourages the child to use the potty instead of nappies. The music also has a soothing effect on some kids, thus making their job easier.

There are thousands of different brands of musical potty chairs on the market today. As with every other product, all brands of musical potty chairs might not be the best for your child. Therefore you should take the matter into careful consideration before purchasing a musical potty chair for your toddler. The first thing to check is the quality of the music. Some low quality musical potty chairs might make screeching sounds that might irritate both the parents and the kid. Therefore check for the quality of the music before you buy the potty.

Another thing to look into before buying a musical potty chair for your kid is the selection of songs on the potty. Some musical potty chairs come with only a couple of common songs. Repetition of the same song every time might bore your kid and might make him give up his potty training halfway through. Besides, it might be irritating for you and any older kids in the house. Therefore go for a potty which has a number of songs. Also make it a point to choose the musical potty chair which has the most number of your child's favorite songs.

At present musical potty chairs come in various designs, colors and sizes. You have a wide choice when it comes to choosing the designs. They also have different types of potty chairs depending on the age groups. If your child is old enough, it is always a good idea to take him potty-shopping with you. This way, your child will get a chance to choose the design that he likes the best. Contrary to what many people believe, musical potty chairs do not come with astronomical price tags. On the average, a musical potty chair might cost you $20. But keep in mind that this is the price of the most basic design and that the prices may increase with more elaborate designs.

Pink Potty Chair

Most parents claim that girls are easier to be potty trained than boys. While it may be easier to potty train your daughter than your son, the experience might not exactly be a picnic. Sometimes your daughter might refuse to even sit on her potty chair. Pink is a favorite color among girls. Buying your baby daughter a pink potty chair might encourage her to use it due to the simple fact that it is pink in color. Choosing a pink potty chair will definitely make your daughter's potty training experience a pleasant one for her as well as for you.

Potty training your kid cannot be done overnight. Just because you bought her favorite pink potty chair, do not expect her to simply use it. Potty training your daughter, even with a pink potty chair, will take some time. It is difficult for some girls to adjust to the new potty chair and some might even be scared to use it. A pink potty chair will somewhat minimize the fear and reluctance to use a potty because it is a very familiar and favorite color with girls.

The first thing to do when potty training your daughter is to tell her that she is going to be using a potty instead of a diaper. Do not just put her on the potty and simply expect her to her job. Let her familiarize with her new pink potty chair. Tell her why you bought it and what you expect her to do with it. Once your daughter is comfortable with the idea of a pink potty chair, the rest of the training will be easy.

It is never a good idea to force the child on a potty chair. Do not scold her or ridicule her if she cannot use it. This will only result in making the child tense and thus turning her potty training into a nightmare. Simply encourage your daughter and say that it is okay if she does not succeed in using her pink potty chair once or twice. This will make the child more relaxed on the potty. Placing her new pink potty chair at a place she likes, such as her play room or in front of the TV, will also make your daughter adapt to the potty faster.

The cost of a pink potty chair depends on the design you choose. The most basic design will cost you about $20. But pink potty chairs that come with additional features such as music will cost more.

Portable Potty Chair

A portable potty chair is an essential item in the household, whether you travel a lot or not. A child can be given potty training after the age of 1 year, and this training will have to continue till he/ she is about three. The type of potty differs from child to child. So as a parent it is your duty to get your kid a suitable and comfortable potty chair.

There are several types of portable potty chairs. One type would be the folding one that is so compact that it can be carried around easily. The other type of portable potty chairs is the ones that fit on normal toilet seats and can also be folded flat; this type is great for kids training to use adult toilets.

Portable potty chairs have always existed, but additional features have been assimilated to this now- essential item in the household. If you travel often or stay away from home part of every day, a portable potty chair will save a lot of trouble. That's not all - training a child to use the potty will give him/her additional self confidence thus promoting his/he development.

The first type of portable potty chairs mentioned above is the fold-down/ break-down type. These could either be folded so that it is highly compact or be separated. Just because you can do this with portable potty chairs, doesn't mean that they are rickety. Portable potty chairs of renowned brands are certified for safety. However, you must check the portable potty chair for loose parts and rough edges well before purchasing it.

The other type of portable potty chairs mentioned in this is a mere seat. This is a flat seat that can fit on the normal toilet seat. This type is very compact and thus more convenient to use. The child will also feel like he/she is using the toilet at home rather than a portable potty chair that may make them feel uncomfortable.

Some parents may not realize the importance of the design of the portable potty chairs. Children can be very fussy to use the potty especially if they are away from home. So when you buy a potty chair, portable or not, you must get something colorful and cute. Soft potty seats are a relatively new product in the market and kids love them. Nevertheless, one of the most important things you as a parent must do to give your kid proper potty training is to encourage them and admire them when they don't make a mess.

Potty Chair Reviews

Potty training is something that some parents dread, while some take it in their stride. Some children make a huge fuss during potty training while others make their transition from the diapers to the potty a smooth one. Whether your child will make a fuss or just go along with it, is safe to ensure that the potty is something your child will bother taking a second glance at. To help you in buying the perfect potty for your child, potty chair reviews will be a great deal of help.

Potty chair reviews can be found all over the internet. Many people claim that they got a great deal of help in potty training their kids through these potty chair reviews. They not only give you reviews on potty chairs but also other issues related to potty chairs such as potty training methods.

As mentioned above, and as well as the name suggests, potty chair reviews give you valuable information on various potty chairs. They give you the good points as well as the bad points in different potty chairs and sometimes recommend the best potty chairs for children of various ages. If you visit a potty chair company website, you will only get the good points in a certain potty chair. But in potty chair reviews you get to hear about the downside of some potty chairs as well.

Another thing that potty chair reviews cover is tips on how to potty train your children. In most cases it is never easy to potty train children. It has to be done patiently and tactfully. It is never a good idea to scold your child if he cannot adjust to the potty chair as soon you expect him to. You should be encouraging but not forceful. Being forceful or strict will only make your child detest the potty more.

One thing that almost all potty chair reviews say is to never compare children when it comes to potty training. Even if they are siblings, it will never do to expect all your children to be the same when it comes to potty training. In general girls start potty training before boys. Expecting your baby boy to be potty trained at same age as his older sister is something that you should never do.

Most potty chair reviews allow visitors to leave their comments. If you read through a few potty chair reviews there is a lot of information that you can gather. You would also be able to compare the prices of various types of potty chairs. If you are a parent that has experience in potty training your child you can even leave comments of your own on the potty chair reviews in order to help many parents like yourself potty train their kids.

Potty Chair

Potty chair training is essential for any kid and it needs to be started at the right age. The potty chair that you choose needs to be the right one that gives comfort to your little one. If you are in the midst of buying looking for one you will realize that the list is endless. There are quite a lot of options from the normal potty chair to an elaborated and colorful potty chair that even plays music. Given such wider variety is it hard for anyone to choose a suitable and comfortable potty chair for a kid.

The best advice is to go for one that your child will feel comfortable with. Look at the options as to whether you would like to go for a regular potty chair which can be seated on the floor or whether you like to go for a potty seat that can be inserted on top of the regular toilet seat. However many choose the potty seat as it's more convenient and easy to clean. Consequently some kids might not be totally acceptable to the idea of having to use a potty seat on top of a regular seat. In these cases it's easy for you to introduce them to the potty chair. These potty chairs may not cost you a lot and after all the kid needs to be comfortable using the potty chair. Once your child is used to the potty chair you could introduce him/her to use the insert toilet seat. The potty chair is quite comfortable to use and as well easy to carry around.

The other factor to be considered when purchasing a potty chair is to go for one that has a stable base. Potty chairs nowadays come with lots of decorative detail plus along with famous cartoon characters. This will provide ample distraction for your kid if he/she is a bit adamant when it comes to the beginning stages of potty chair training. Online shopping might be able to give you some good offers that will help you with your budget plus you could browse through the local shops or the super market to get some good deals. When starting to train your toddler to use the potty chair make sure that you use some wipes and not give them too much of liquid when travelling as this may disrupt the training. Above all, you need to tell them that diapers are not be used any more.

The most important factor to remember is that you need to ensure that you take along the potty chair during travelling as kids may not be comfortable with using the toilet seat. This can change the whole process. There's no harm in carrying the potty chair during travelling.

Potty Chairs

No matter what others see, in the eyes of the parents their child is the most precious thing they have, and every parent wants to give their child the best of things as much as they can. The learning curve a child takes, especially when he or she becomes a toddler, is undoubtedly a period where most of the cherished memories of a child would take place; and any parent would want to make those experiences as pleasant as they can for their child. In this article we will discuss about a subject that is related with a special learning experience of a toddler, so read along as we discuss things one must know about the subject of potty chairs.

Potty training is definitely one of the most memorable periods in a child's life, and most parents see it as an indication of the fact that their child is growing up. This is why some parents get very emotional when they see their kids using potty chairs for the first time. Apart from learning to walk by himself or herself, being potty trained is a huge step when it comes to a growth of a child. That is also why parents want their child to have the best he or she needs to get to that point in growing up.

Potty chairs comes in all colors, sizes and shapes, so there is a huge variety of potty chairs to choose from when it comes to selecting one. The importance of potty chairs depend on several factors such as the safety of the device and how comfortable the child feels when using it (this would specially be crucial when getting your toddler potty trained).

When choosing potty chairs parents should be mindful about the safety of using them, as some could end up hurting your child. One should be very careful when buying mini toilet seats that fits on the normal toilet seats, as if they are not up to standard your toddler could end up slipping inside it.

Parents could buy potty chairs that have features they know their child likes having, such as faces of their favorite cartoon characters, especially when the child is being faced with the new task of using the potty. Having things that makes him or her comfortable on the potty chair would be greatly helpful when getting him or her potty trained. One would also have the option to get potty chairs that match the surrounding of the toddlers room so that it won't look like alien object to the room.

Princess Potty Chair

When training your kid to use a toilet you are going to want to be very sensitive to her. This is because children, at that point, can be very confused about the change, from a diaper to a toilet. Therefore, when buying your kid a potty, it is important to give careful thought to it. Buying a potty that will give your child maximum comfort while encouraging the change will help you a long way. A comfortable potty will give your child the assurance of their safety. Many children are afraid of toilet bowls because of the seemingly bottomless hole that leads out of it. The flush on toilet is also said to scare some children. A potty, on the other hand, is much safer and does not make any noises.

There are specially designed potties that attract different kids. Princess potty chairs are famous amongst little girls as it gives them a feeling of pride to own one of these. It also distracts them from the change from their diapers to a toilet. The bright colors, too, will encourage them to use the potty more often than an ordinary potty. Some princess potty chairs also come with music to keep you kid entertained when they are using the potty. This again, offers a distraction to prevent a child stressing on the idea of using a potty.

When buying a princess potty chair it also important to consider convenience, in addition to the colors and attractiveness. Only considering the attractiveness of the princess potty chair can make you regret your choice later on. This is because some potties are designed with the convenience factor completely ignored. They may have fixed pots and designs that make them hard to clean. These can not only make the job of cleaning the princess potty chair frustrating, it is also a guarantee that the potty cannot be used for long, since it is not hygienic.

Princess potty chairs can give your little girl the pride of owning something grand. It will make her feel special when using the potty, especially compared to the ordinary looking toilet that you use. Many of these princess potty chairs are hand painted and offer high quality. They also come with features such as toilet paper holders to help train your child to clean up as well. Some also features custom designing features, like messages that can be printed and photo holders, to hold the picture of your little princess.

Toddler Potty Chair

Potty training is a crucial part of childhood development that help kids acquire life-long skills. Even though potty training can be messy and tiring, it's a wonder to watch a child learn something new and be able to handle it by themselves. This only proves one point; you have been a successful parent with mastered patience.

You can start your toddler's potty training when he/she is about one year in age. However you must note that every child is unique and therefore, they take different ages and different training periods to grasp a skill. You will have to identify your child and create an environment in which he/she is comfortable.

In order to start with potty training you will first need to purchase a toddler potty chair. There are several kinds of toddler potty chairs you can select from. The basic wooden toddler potty chair, which looks more like a typical chair, has been around for several decades. That is where you, as kids, probably learned to tinkle and poop. They consist of a removable plastic potty bowl and have also been modified with arm rests and cases that can hold books, toys, etc. These types of toddler potty chairs are ideal for kids who are paranoid about using a porcelain potty.

The next type is the versatile plastic toddler potty chairs that are so light in weight and comfortable. These can be easily carried from place to place and cleaned without much effort. Some of them come with lids that also fit on adult commodes. This will be great for older kids who are ready to learn how to use adult toilets.

Also, many modern toddler potty chairs come in all sorts of attractive features. Some of them are designed to look like mini-commodes and even have flushers and toilet paper holders. Some of them are designed to look like thrones. Other toddler potty chairs are portable. These are a wise choice if you travel a lot. They come in compact forms which can be either detached or folded to travel with you.

When a toddler is first learning to use a toddler potty chair, he/she may fuss and make quite a mess. But as parents, you must know that it is only positive reinforcement that will make your child learn the process quickly. If you handle the child with love and patience he/she will soon be confident enough to even use the potty without your assistance.

Toddler Potty Chairs

There comes a time in every parent's life where they have to spend time with toddler potty chairs. It can be a hard time or a smooth time for them, depending on the way their kids go about it. But whether the parents like it or dislike it, it is essential that they potty train their kids at the right time.

The market of toddler potty chairs has taken quite big strides for the better, newer and flashier during the last few years. Instead of the plain potty chairs that most kids had to do with in the past, there are new potty chairs in various shapes and sizes with many features such as music and flash lights. All this has made potty training a good deal easier and probably a little noisier.

If you are a parent shopping for toddler potty chairs, the first thing that you should think of is the comfort of your child. This is extremely important to ensure that your child will stick to potty training. You should consider the size of the toddler potty chair and the size of your child. Also remember to check for any sharp parts or edges that might cause any discomfort for your toddler. It is essential to make sure that your child is comfortable in his potty chair in order for his potty training to go without a hitch as much as possible.

As mentioned above, toddler potty chairs come in different shapes, music and flashing lights. It is a good idea to let your child have a say in which potty chair to buy. After all it is his potty chair. You toddler will be less likely to dig in his feet and refuse to use something that he himself chose. Therefore take your child's opinion also into consideration when buying toddler potty chairs.

As much as you think about your toddler, you should also think of yourself and the rest of the family when choosing toddler potty chairs for your toddler. As parents you would be the ones to clean out the potty chair after your toddler finishes his job. Therefore the potty chair should be easy to clean. Another thing to think twice about is whether to buy a musical potty chair for your kid. Even though your toddler might love it at the time of buying he, and everyone else in the family, might get tired of hearing the same music over and over again. Therefore it is important to consider the rest of your family when buying toddler potty chairs as well.

Travel Potty Chair

When you are traveling with a little one, it is always best to be prepared for frequent loo breaks. And the best way to be prepared is to carry an on-the-go potty or a travel potty chair. Finding the best, suitable travel potty chair can be a daunting task. It is not that there aren't any out there, it is just that there are a lot of them out there in the market.

There a few things one must keep in mind when taking a travel potty chair with you. Make sure that it is not heavy. The last thing that you need is a heavy potty chair that you have to carry along and set up and then pack it Choosing travel potty chairs may seem to most of you an easy mission. Still for all, there are many factors that you need to think about when considering travel potty chairs. While potty chairs may in this day and age become less thought of, there are those who do require the use of such a contraption when travelling very far. And indeed, it is something that is useful to have when taking along young children. So in essence what do you need to think of when buying travel potty chairs? To be frank there are many factors that need to be considered.

For instance, the proper kind of travel potty chairs needs to be constructed with the right kind of materials. While in the olden days these products were made out of wood, nowadays they are made out of much more light weight materials which are also easy to clean, for example plastic. Another noteworthy factor that needs to be thought of would be the user friendliness of the device. The best thing you can do when choosing travel potty chairs would be to scour what is available online. This is sure to put things in perspective and help you at the end of the day to choose something of convenience. Moreover, you should also recognize what types of brands are out there. There is a specific reason why many people do trust brands and it is something to do with reliability and functionality. At the end of the day, these are two concepts that you cannot underestimate in any sense of the word. Make sure that you read up on all you can with regard to travel potty chairs, so that you can, at the end of the day, make an informed and conscious decision. The ideal thing for you to do would be to scour what is available online.

Finally, remember that you need to consider price also as a factor here. While travel potty chairs may not be the most expensive things that are out there, there are companies that do sell this as a generic product, which means that you will only have to spend a little in terms of cash. Having said that, make sure you are aware, as mentioned before, that things like quality and functionality are of absolute importance. The last thing that you need to do is to make the wrong decision and then regret it later.

Even though many fail to acknowledge, potty training is one of the highly significant processes in a child's early development. With their minds programming very rapidly, proper potty training plays a crucial role in the child's personality formation. You, as parents, will need to exercise so much of patience; in fact, more patience than you ever imagined.

There is no particular age for potty training. Just like learning other things like speaking, walking or writing, potty training time period too can vary from child to child depending on various factors like speed of growth and environment and so on. Most kids start around 1 ½ - 2 years of age. However, you must pay keen attention to when exactly you must start training your toddler. Starting early will only pressure your child and you; also this may make the process longer.

With that said, let's take a look at the types of potties available for toddlers. Of course there are the popular plastic ones. However both users and doctors agree that wood potty chairs are better and more user-friendly for potty training.

To begin with, wood potty chairs are much more stable. They won't tip and slip because they are denser than a plastic potty of the equal size. Thus, the child feels more secure on a wood potty chair. A child's confidence can get quickly disrupted if an accident happens once, especially if it hurts them. Hence, getting them to use the potty again can be a very difficult task. With a wood potty chair, this uncertainty is highly unlikely.

Another important aspect of wood potty chairs is the fact that they are comparatively skin friendly. This is because wood is natural and is highly unlikely to contain chemicals (except in the painting) that causes skin irritations in kids.

Wood potty chairs come in all kinds of attractive designs that will make your child keener on using the potty. They are shaped into little princess's/ prince's thrones or carved and painted with different colorful designs. Thus, using such wood potty chairs, the child is less likely to be fussy and hence messy.

Of course there is one significant con in using wood potty chairs. They are heavier and come in one piece in most cases. Therefore, they aren't portable. So the wisest thing is to get a handy portable plastic potty for travel purposes and keep a cutely decorated wood potty chair around the house.

Choosing the right kind of wood potty chairs should not be a great big task. However, there are those who are in fact rather confused when it comes to choosing wood potty chairs. The problem here lies in the fact that, when concerned with potty chairs, there are many variations which one can choose from. For instance there are those which are made from plastic and even types of metal. Still for all, with this range of choices being present, you need to buy something which is perfect for your requirements. The best thing you can do is to check up on reviews of all such products online.

True enough there are many brands out there that will help you with choosing what is ideal. Still for all, with so many brands and products, what do you choose? One of the main reasons why you should be able to consider wood potty chairs is the fact that they are user friendly and also environmentally green. Unlike plastic or metal potty chairs, you will not be confronted with that issue of harming nature. You will also remember that potty chairs have been made by wood from the day it was created hundreds of years back.

Moreover, it needs to be mentioned that in this day and age wood potty chairs have become more convenient to use and more versatile in terms of functionality. And these are the elements which are of utmost importance when it comes to choosing wood potty chairs. You should however make a note of who exactly you are buying wood potty chairs for. Is it for a patient at home? Or would it be for kids? Are you looking for a travelling potty chair while going on trips? These are just a few of the questions you need to ask yourself before you make any purchase decision.

Last but not least, you need to consider the price. While there are indeed many brands out there you should remember that wood potty chairs are in essence a generic product. There is not much value addition that needs to take place in order to differentiate something like this. Still for all, what you do need to consider would be aspects like manufacturer's defects and warranties. All in all remember that during the time of promotional and seasonal offers, you should be able to shave off a few dollars off the listed price when these offers do take place.

In today's world, being environment friendly is of utmost importance. Not only should you practice eco-friendly habits, but you should also try to instill awareness about the environment in your child's mind from an early age. If you are a parent looking for ways to make your toddler more eco friendly getting him a wooden potty chair might be a sound idea. Wooden potty chairs are fully eco friendly and would teach your child to be conscious about the environment from a very young age.

Wooden potty chairs come in a number of colors. The best thing about them is that they can be reused. You can use it in one color for your first child and then use it for your second child as well after painting it in another color. Not all kids like the same color. It changes from one kid to the next. By having a wooden potty chair, you can paint it in your kid's favorite color and still use it for another kid afterwards. You can also paint your child's name on his wooden potty chair in order to make it more personalized.

It is never an easy task to get your child to adapt to a potty chair. Most kids tend to refuse them. You can reduce this up to some extent by letting your kid take part in choosing his wooden potty chair. Since they come in a large number designs, you child can choose a design that he/she likes. The major point here is to make your child feel involved in potty shopping. Children are less likely to refuse something that they chose on their own than something that you chose for them.

Another way to increase your child's enthusiasm in potty training is to let him decorate his potty on his own. Wooden potty chairs are perfect for these kinds of projects. Buy a white or unpainted wooden potty chair and let your child have his way in painting it. Make sure not to tell him what should be done or what he should paint. You can also get cute stickers for your child's wooden potty chair. But make sure not to get the super-adhesive ones so that you will not have too much of trouble removing the stickers when you are using the same potty for another child in future.

The prices of wooden potty chairs can be more than plastic potty chairs. But since they can be reused better than plastic ones, it is an investment in the long run.

There is no period in a child's life that would captivate the parents in wonder like the period from birth until he or she becomes about 3 years old. With new experiences such as walking by themselves, talking the first proper words and learning to use the potty by themselves, this time period is where the most cherished memories of a child's life take place. In this article we will discuss about something that could make one of these new experiences even more enjoyable for your little toddler. So read along this article about wooden potty chairs and you might be inspired to get one for your child as well.

Before the mass usage and application of polythene and plastic came in to being, wooden potty chairs were the most popular choice parents had when it came to getting their children potty trained. However with the usage of plastic, wooden potty chairs were replaced by potty chairs with various colors shapes and sizes made of plastic. The invention of plastic potty chairs that can be fixed on top of an adult toilet seat that also came complete with a set of steps for climbing on to and off it was one of the major blows for wooden potty chairs.

In the modern day with the awareness of the fact that plastic is not bio-degradable, more and more people are trying to reduce their usage of plastic. This fact has created a suitable atmosphere for the wooden potty chairs to make a comeback and compete with their fancy rivals.

One of the main reasons why the wooden potty chairs lost their popularity to plastic ones is because of the versatility, creativity and the fancy nature the plastic ones had. Now that the potty chairs made of wood are given another chance, they seem to have rectified that flaw they had. In fact now there is a vast spectrum that comes with different carvings, paintings, sizes, and shapes that are more than capable of competing with plastic ones.

One might be surprised at some of the wooden potty chairs available in the market today; from ones with book racks and toilet paper holders to ones that are capable of rocking back and forth, these new wooden potty chairs are sure to make your child feel at ease when doing the deed, and makes the whole experience more fun and easy.

Parents are also given the option to use these new wooden potty chairs as normal chairs with a simple alteration, after your child is capable of using an adult toilet and the need for a potty chair is no longer there.
