My Top Favorite Uses for My Stainless Steel Food Jar

What if I told you, you could have a healthy, tasty lunch or snack for a fraction of the price of fast food, plus, you can have it wherever you go? Too good to be true? Not at all. When you have stainless steel food jars, your days of eating soggy, barely edible food are over.

These food jars have revolutionized the way we view brown-bagging it. They come in a compact 10 ounce size, have a non-slip and scratch resistant body, a wide mouth for easy filling and dining from, as well as a Thergee double wall lining - this is the key to keeping your hots hot and your colds cold - not all food containers can say the same.

So why do you absolutely need a stainless steel food jar? Not only will your food taste better and stay fresh longer, you will never stop putting these handy "funtainers" to use. Check out my top 10 uses for my stainless steel food jar.

Kid-Friendly

If you have little ones, then you have got to get at least one of these stainless steel food jars. Imagine sending your child to school with a nice hot homemade lunch or yummy leftovers from last night's casserole, over a salty pre-made lunch package. Your kids will never want to trade away a lunch put in their stainless steel food container. These food jars are perfect for tossing in fresh fruit or veggies, hot soups, stews or even juices or hot chocolate. The convenient size will fit perfectly into backpacks, gym bags, travel cup holders or purses.

Take them along for a quick snack after your child's sports practice, dance lessons or when you drop them off at the babysitters. Fresh tasty snacks don't have to be a hassle to pack when you have a stainless steel food jar.

Made to Travel

Even if you don't have children, these stainless steel food jars are still a must-have. Take them along on day trips to the park, zoo or beach. Wouldn't it be nice to have a great lunch or snack without paying the high prices of a street vendor? If you love to hike, bike or fish in areas where you don't have anywhere to eat, then these food containers are perfect. Take along some hot food in one, fresh fruit, pudding or even pie in another, while adding your beverage (coffee, tea or juice) to the third - this terrific trio equals a fresh and fabulous lunch alternative. Get a group of these stainless steel food jars all working for you and you have a picnic spread like no other.

Stop choking back soggy or unhealthy food when all you have to do is grab a stainless steel food jar. They are guaranteed to help you save money, time and calories when you pack a wholesome lunch. Fast food may be convenient, but it can't compare to fresh food made at home with love and placed into a food jar that is sure to keep it the way it was intended - delicious!

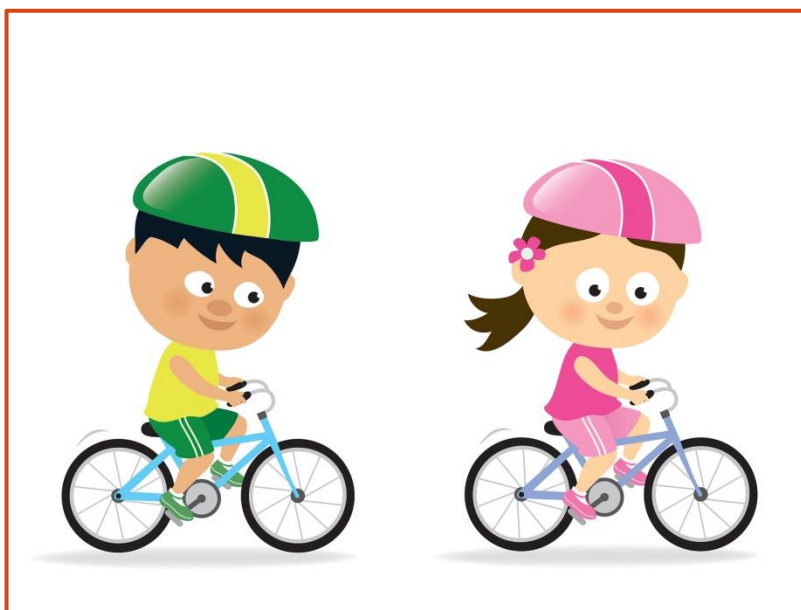

Ten Favorite Uses of My Stainless Steel Food Jar

Are you still using plastic containers and zipper baggies to send your kids off to school with? Even though the lunch you packed for them started off fresh, by the time the lunch bell rings, the food in these types of containers has become cold, soggy and...well...as a kid may put it, just plain yucky!

If this paints the daily picture in your household, then you have got to get yourself some stainless steel food jars. These handy dandy wide-mouth food jars are compact and durable enough for small children. They are cool to the touch for hot lunches and will keep food hot (or cold) longer. In fact, our food jars keep hots hot up to 5 hours and cold foods fresh and yummy for up to 7 hours. Say goodbye to wasted lunches and hello to wholesome delicious food and snacks.

Snacking-On-the-Go

Kids and adults alike need a little something to snack on during a busy day, but plastic baggies can crush cookies and crackers leaving you with a bag of crumbs - trying eating those on the go! With a stainless steel food jar, your treats will stay exactly the same way they went in. In fact, I love to use these wide-mouth jars for fresh fruit, veggies and even a salad. The food stays crisp and cool for hours. It is perfect for eating healthy and reducing the chances of stopping off at a bakery for a fatty snack.

Coffee and tea drinkers you will never have to fumble with another hot takeaway cup when you have a stainless steel food container. The double Therjee lining locks in the inner temperature of the contents and will keep your morning coffee or tea hot for hours. Or if you are into smoothies, these containers will also keep your healthy mixture cold and delicious - imagine, no more hefty prices and long waits at the counters to get your morning pick-me-ups.

Sports-Friendly

If you or your children are busy with sports or practices, then filling a stainless steel food jar with on-the-go snacks or even a small meal is the perfect solution for staving off hunger. These food jars can carry a hot soup, stew or even a nice piece of apple cobbler. Kids will appreciate the after practice or even a pre-game snack to keep their energy levels up. Plus, you will have peace-of-mind knowing the food is freshly prepared by you and not a fast food restaurant

These 10 ounce jars are also the perfect companion for hiking, biking or spending the day on the ski hill. Any food you choose to bring with you will stay exactly the way you packed it. The handy jar fits perfectly into backpacks, bags and cup holders, so you can go as deep into the forest or hiking trail as you want and not have to worry about what you are going to eat. Talk about freedom. Bring along an entire meal with hot in one, colds in another and your favorite beverage in the third, to go with your perfect day.

Stop wasting money on food that is only going to be thrown out when packed in those other containers. Grab a stainless steel food jar and see the difference it makes in the quality of your lunch and snack choices.

Stainless Steel Food Jars to the Rescue

Does your child spend time at the daycare or at babysitters? Do you know what type of food they are allowing your child to eat? If you want your precious little one to only eat good wholesome food, then you will want to get yourself one of our stainless steel food jars. These handy little 10 ounce containers are the perfect size for sending along snacks, light meals and the type of food you want your child to have.

Keeping it Real

With the rate of child obesity on the rise, don't let a daycare or babysitter ruin your child's appetite with junkie, pre-packaged convenience foods.

These are loaded with salt, preservatives, sugars and starch - all bad for a growing body. With a stainless steel food jar you can be assured your child is being fed the kinds of foods you know to be nutritious and wholesome. Send along carrots and other fresh veggies, fruit or salads for a snack. This will stay crisp and cold until your child is ready to eat them. These containers can also keep soups, stews and pasta hot for a nice healthy lunch.

Special Diet Savers

Today, many children are on special diets due to food allergies. Sending your young child out into the world can be scary when their very lives may be at risk. Don't take a chance of a food allergy occurring while your baby is on a playdate, at a birthday party or sports' practice. Sending along their own food in a cool-looking food jar will not only give you peace-of-mind, but may save your child's life. Our stainless steel food jars have a wide mouth so you can place in a variety of meals, snacks and even a cupcake, so they won't feel left out of the festivities. These containers are durable and easy to handle, so your little one won't have to struggle to get the contents out.

No Chance of Crumbling

Just because your child spends time outside of your watchful eyes is no reason to compromise their healthy eating. Zip lock baggies and plastic containers just don't offer the same protection and freshness a stainless steel food jar can. Cookies and crackers often times end up crushed when travelling and plastic containers tend to hang onto food odors that can taint the taste of other food stored in them. With our non-slip jars, your delicate foods and snacks will travel anywhere your child does and will remain intact, fresh and tasty - bye bye crumbled crackers and cookies.

Kids love to snack so don't narrow down their choices with ordinary food when you can send them off with healthy food that is guaranteed to stay hot or cold. They will love their stainless steel food jar and be the envy of all the kids when they sit down and enjoy an awesome snack or lunch made with love and packed safely in our stainless steel food jar.

The Adventures of the Travelling Food Jar

How awesome would it be to be able to go skiing or on a nice long hike or mountain biking, without worrying about what you are going to eat? Preparing food to take along on these adventures can be limited to what will fit into plastic containers or zipper baggies - these choices may just leave you wishing you could stumble upon some generous campers willing to share their food with you.

However, it doesn't have to be this way. With a stainless steel food jar, your lunch and snack options will take on a whole new adventure of their own.

The Adventures of the Travelling Freshies

Taking freshies along with you can be a challenge. Keeping salad, carrot sticks (and other veggies) along with various fruits, cold and crisp is not going to happen in a conventional container. They can turn soggy, limp and brown when put into plastic, destroying the taste and quality of your healthy food. However, the double-wall Thergee lining in our stainless steel food jars are guaranteed to keep cold food products fresh and chilled up to 7 hours. This is long enough to discover all sorts of new adventures in the great outdoors.

The Adventures of the Travelling Hotties

Do you crave a hot lunch when you are doing your outdoor activities? Then don't waste any more time and money on food that doesn't stay hot when you put it in plastic food containers, use a stainless steel food jar instead. Our wide-mouth jars keep your "hots" hot for up to 5 hours. This means you can take along soups, stews, casseroles or pasta and enjoy a tasty lunch whenever and wherever the hunger stops you. Our leak-proof tops will ensure your liquids remain inside until you're ready to enjoy them - these jars are too good not to put them to the test.

The Adventures of the Travelling Trio

The 10 ounce size of our stainless steel food jars are portable and durable enough to be taken along anywhere. With three of our made-to-travel food jars, your lunch is completely covered. Prepare a fresh salad or soup for a starter in one, then some meat, chili or pasta in the second, finishing it off with pudding, pie, cake or a beverage in the third. The possibilities are endless and will allow you to have a perfectly tailored, trio lunch on-the-go. Plus, they are scratch-resistant and have non-slip grips to ensure they are tough enough to handle any adventure. They even fit nicely in backpacks, bags and cup holders, too!

The adventures of the travelling food jars won't stop until you do. They are made for busy lives that are being lived to the fullest. The stainless steel food jar is ready to go anywhere you venture and will keep you well fed and happy along the way. Try one today and see where this amazing little jar takes you. It may just be the adventure of a lifetime.

Fishing with My Stainless Steel Food Jar

Finding that perfect fishing hole tucked away in a remote location is a favorite pass time of fishermen everywhere. The smell of the woods and the sound of a burbling brook or lazy river is a wonderful way to spend an afternoon away from home. However, these remote locations can also pose a problem with how much gear you can or want to haul with you. In addition, you are limited by the choices of food you can expect to have available - forget about finding a fast food restaurant or street vendor out in the middle of nowhere - and who wants to wrestle a bear for some berries? So what can you do, other than bring another soggy sandwich or hope for some fresh fish to fry? Stainless Steel Food Jars!

Made to Travel

Durable and tough enough to handle any fishing expedition, our Stainless Steel Food Jars will be the perfect travelling companion. Fill one up with hot soup, another with fresh veggies, fruit or even pudding and use a third to bring along coffee or a cold drink. Our double-lined Thergee technology is guaranteed to keep those hots hot for 5 hours and chilled foods cold for 7 hours. The strong rubber grips ensure a tight hold when you only have a single hand available to drink with and the durable body can take the tumbles and drops like no other can.

In addition, the 10 ounce size is perfect for packing into tight spaces and won't leak or spill its contents when it gets flipped around. Even if you don't catch a single thing, at least your tasty, homemade lunch will have made the day worthwhile - imagine a hot jar full of meaty chili and some apple cobbler for dessert. It's possible with our handy dandy food jars!

The Bait-Mobile

Everyone knows to catch fish you have to have the proper bait, but long treks into the bush can leave you trailing a smell of dead minnows or worms behind you. This isn't only unpleasant, but makes for a long day of smelly, unappealing fish bait. With one of our Stainless Steel Food Jars, you can put your bait in and be assured it will keep the freshness intact and the smell off of your clothes, backpack or fishing gear. Of course, we don't recommend you put anything in our jars that needs to be kept alive, as our double-wall insulation does not provide a whole lot of oxygen. However, the wide-mouth will give you ease of access and easy cleaning afterwards.

The next time you plan a fishing trip, be sure to stock up on our Stainless Steel Food Jars. They are versatile to use for any kind of food or beverage and will keep your food hotter and fresher longer than most other food jars. Try them today and see how much better your day of fishing becomes. We can't guarantee the fish will be biting, but we know you will be when you dig into your homemade lunch or snack.

Food Allergies? Stainless Steel Food Jars to the Rescue

Having food allergies can make simple tasks like eating out or taking a lunch to work or school very difficult. When children are involved the idea of them, possibly, trading off a homemade lunch that is free of allergens, for a more appealing lunch (that can be potentially lethal) is a scary thought at best. But kids will be kids and even though they may understand that a certain food can be toxic to their systems, the temptation to indulge in the "forbidden fruit" can still become a reality. So as a parent or guardian what can you do to ensure your little one's safety?

Keep It Hot, Keep It Cold

Our Stainless Steel Food Jars are the perfect size for little hands. Each one measures 3.5 inches wide and 4.5 inches tall. The 10 ounce capacity is the perfect size for smaller appetites or to carry a delicious snack. Unlike other food jars, our Stainless Steel Food Jars will keep "hots" hot for up to 5 hours and those meant-to-be-chilled foods fresh and crispy for approximately 7 hours. This feature is also perfect for hot beverages like hot chocolate, or cold drinks like juices or fruit smoothies. Imagine instead of shoving a sugar-laced cereal bar into your child's hand, when you are running late, you could actually give them a healthy alternative like fresh fruit and yogurt.

Allergy-Free Food Will Travel

One of the best ways to ensure your child won't trade away their safe food, for a unknown lunch or snack, is to provide them with a meal they can't wait to devour.

With one of our wide-mouth Stainless Steel Jars, your options are only limited by your cooking skills. We recommend using these great little containers for soups, stews, leftovers, mac n' cheese, crackers and cheese or even salads, fresh fruit and vegetables; the options are endless. Your child will not only want to keep the healthy and allergen-free food, the other kids will wish they had the same.

Built For the Rough and Tough

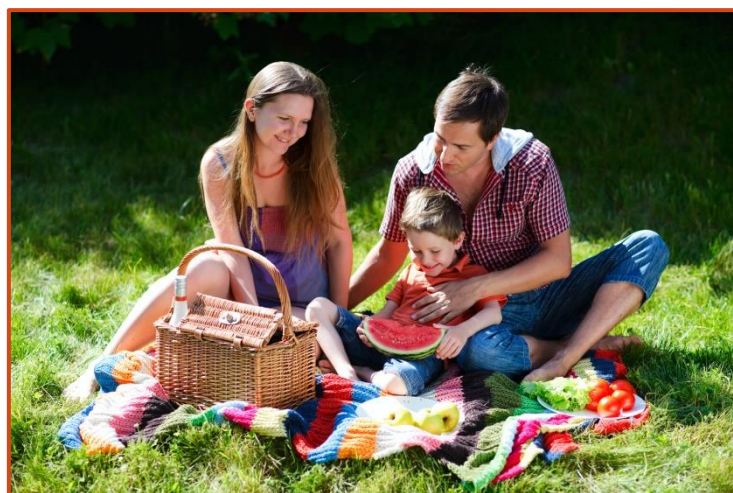

I remember as a child (way back in the early 70's) my mother tried to stuff food into a narrow container (meant to carry liquids) for me to take to school. The lunch was not only cold by the lunch bell, but it was near impossible to get out. Plus, I don't know how many I broke by simply dropping it on the floor - the inner liner would shatter, rendering the contents inedible. However, with our rubber grips, durable body and scratch-resistant bottoms, your child don't have to worry if this Stainless Steel Food Jar gets dropped or banged around.

Having an allergy shouldn't mean your child is left without options, grab our food jars and watch your choices soar. Stop worrying about what your child is (or isn't) eating when you send them to school with a boring lunch. Pack a delicious, wholesome meal in one of our Stainless Steel Food Jars and gain the peace-of-mind you crave.

Let's Go On a Picnic with Stainless Steel Food Jars

Picnicking is an awesome way to bond and enjoy the company of your family and friends. But let's face it, not all picnic foods stay fresh or even travel that well. Fresh fruit and veggies tend to dry out and get rubbery, while hot foods can get cold and inedible. Let's explore the options of using our Stainless Steel Food Jars over plastic ware and zipper baggies.- your food options just opened up!

Plastic on a Picnic

We have all used plastic containers to try and keep food fresh longer. Some are okay at doing this task while others completely fall short. When it comes to packing food for a picnic, the last thing you want is a pile of plastic filled with inedible food. Not to mention, there is no way these types of containers are keeping your homemade food hot or cold. With our Insulated Food Jars your picnic fare will remain the same way you packed it - fresh and fabulous!

Imagine serving up soups, stews, chili, casseroles or leftovers from last night's chicken or pot roast. These may not sound like the perfect picnic foods, but with our Stainless Steel Food containers you are only limited by what is in your refrigerator. Our jars keep hots hot for up to 5 hours and chilled foods cold for up to 7 hours - plenty of time to enjoy a picnic at the park or on the beach. Plus, our jars have a wide-mouth for easy filling, eating and cleaning.

Plastic Baggies on a Picnic

I must admit, the zipper baggies did revolutionize the way we pack some food. They are handy, but the food inside of them doesn't always travel well. Crackers and cookies can crumble on impact, fresh produce can turn brown and soggy and unless you pack a sandwich flat with nothing around it, it will most likely become flattened and inedible.

Our Stainless Steel Food Jars are the perfect alternative to plastic zip bags. The food stays intact and fresh and can travel anywhere, anytime in any conditions. In addition, by using our food jars you are reducing the waste you will create - our jars don't need to go through a costly recycling process and are totally reusable. That is both cost effective and environmentally friendly!

Picnic Yummies

Packing a picnic lunch has never been more fun when you have our Stainless Steel Food Jars. With these you can bypass the normal sandwiches and pack a hot (or cold) wholesome lunch. Try mac n' cheese, soups, salads, fresh produce, fruit smoothies and health drinks or any other hot or cold food you want to dine on. Plus, you don't have to pack any extra picnic-ware when you can eat directly from these food jars. With less things to carry you can hike into more remote areas and dine wherever you please.

Stop wasting money and time with food packed into plastic and zipper bags, when your picnic can turn into a fine dining experience with Stainless Steel Food Jars.

Bring a Cool Lunch on a Hot Day

There's nothing better than escaping to the gentle breeze and the lapping of the waves on your favorite beach. These getaways are a great way to relax and unwind and a wonderful way to cool off on a scorching hot day. The only thing that can make this type of day even more enjoyable is some great food to accompany you. But plastic containers and baggies just don't cut it in the heat of the day. So what are you supposed to do? Stainless Steel Insulated Food Jars, that's what.

The Double-Lined Technology

The secret to our Stainless Steel Food Jars is the double-lined technology. This not only keeps hot foods hot for 5 hours, it will keep those cool beach foods crisp and fresh for up to 7 hours. With this Thergee feature, you can enjoy all types of foods in the sun and not have to worry about it spoiling. In addition, these jars offer a non-slip grip and are super durable. Perfect for tossing in your beach bag and forgetting about it until you are looking for a delicious snack or lunch.

The Perfect Beach Food

Going to the beach and spending the day there, shouldn't limit the types of foods you can enjoy. With ordinary plastic ware and zipper baggies, your options are going to be shackled by what will stay fresh in the scorching heat. Fresh fruit is always a favorite, but this will become mushy and watery in ordinary containers; however, pop it into one of our Stainless Steel Food Jars and your delicate fruit will stay cold and yummy. Imagine taking chunks of watermelon or cantaloupe for a cool snack and not having to worry about it ending up a pile of goo. These food jars are also great for salads, smoothies and homemade protein drinks. Keep your energy up and your body fueled when you have a Stainless Steel Insulated Food Jar.

Made Beach Tough

Consumers spoke and we listened when it came to making a food jar that is durable enough to take on any adventure and the beach is no exception. Our food jars offer tough, have non-slip grips for easy holding, scratch resistant bodies and a leak-proof lid. Ordinary plastic containers don't have any of these features. How many times has the wind kicked up when you are getting ready to eat and your food ends up full of sand and debris? This is frustrating and leaves you either eating dirt particles or abandoning your lunch altogether. With our Stainless Steel Food Jars your lunch will stay protected inside our insulated lining. Plus, with the wide mouth on our jars, you can eat it directly from it, bypassing the need for extra plates, bowls or cups.

Enjoy the beach to its fullest and your day away when you pack a cool healthy lunch or snack in our Stainless Steel Insulated Food Jars. The food will not only taste better and last longer, but you will have oceans of choice on what you can dine on.

Take Dinner Outdoors ~ Stainless Steel Food Jars

With kids having so many extra-curricular activities these days, it can be difficult to get a nourishing and wholesome dinner into them before it all begins. Fast food is convenient, but can leave you and your children sluggish, thirsty and lacking essential nutrients that are key to good health. This may be fine once in a while, but if you have nightly obligations that involve sports, lessons or just plain fun, you will want to give your child a good meal beforehand. How can you do this without sacrificing precious time, money and health? Stainless Steel Food Jars!

Made for Busy Lives

With our Stainless Steel Food Jars your food options just got better. Instead of picking up a pizza or fast food, before your child's practice or sporting event, pack a wholesome dinner inside one of our durable double-lined food jars. The hot food will stay hot up to 5 hours and the cold, crisp and fresh for 7 hours. This means you can give your kids hot soup, stew, casseroles or leftovers from last night's dinner. Pack another one of our Stainless Steel travelling food jars with fresh veggie sticks or hunks of melon or berries and you have yourself a healthy meal made-to-go. This is a lot more nutritious than another nitrate-loaded take-out burger or chicken nuggets.

In addition, not only can your child benefit from these practical food jars, but you as a busy parent can, as well. When you are sitting in the stands, rooting your little player on, you can enjoy a fresh salad, hot food, coffee, tea or hot chocolate. Say goodbye to those over-priced arena and vendor foods when you have tasty treats packed into our Stainless Steel Food Jars.

Made Tough and Rugged

Not only do our Stainless Steel Food Jars give you a wide variety of food options, they are also built to last. Our jars are scratch-resistant and can take a tumble like no other. We have also listened to our customers and have provided you with super rubber grips around the jar to keep it in your hand and off the floor. Plus, the extra-wide mouth provides easy access for filling, eating and cleaning - no extra plates or bowls are needed. In addition, once the lid goes on you can forget about leaks. This is perfect for stuffing them into equipment bags, duffle bags and backpacks. Mom and dad, you will also enjoy the fact that these handy containers fit nicely into most vehicle cup holders. They make the perfect travelling food companion.

Stop wasting your time, money and health on fast food that only leaves you with a greasy meal and a sluggish child. Grab a Stainless Steel Insulated Food Jar and watch your after school dinner options take on a whole new meaning.

After School On-the-Go Snacking Made Easy

With the busy lives we all tend to lead these days, it may be tough to give your kids the proper nutrition they need. After school activities and practices don't leave a lot of time for wholesome food or healthy snacks. If you find yourself shoving another granola bar or trans-fat loaded snack into your child's hand, due to the lack of time, then we have some good news for you today. They are Stainless Steel Insulated Food Jars and they are revolutionizing the way kids are eating on-the-go.

Fill 'Em Up

One of the nice things about having a Stainless Steel Food Jar is the versatility they offer for parents and kids, alike. Since our food jars are double-insulated, your choices in snack foods and quick meals are open to a load of options. With our food jars, your hot foods will remain hot for up to 5 hours and cold foods will stay fresh and crisp for up to 7 hours - this is an outstanding breakthrough for food containers. Imagine having the ability to give your child a hot soup or stew, mac n' cheese or leftovers for a quick meal before practice or an after school activity - this is a lot better than another cereal bar! In addition, the wide-mouth on our Stainless Steel Food Jars make for easy filling, eating and cleaning. Plus, they have leak-proof lids for no-mess carrying, and they fit perfectly into most car cup holders.

Meals & Snacks to Go

Every parent has been there at one time or another, your child is starving and begging you to stop at a fast food outlet, but this type of food is not only filled with preservatives and nitrates, it is just plain unhealthy. This is not only bad for growing bodies, but fast food is highly addictive and can make your child sluggish and face future weight gains. Rev up their energy levels with homemade foods straight from your kitchen and packed into our durable double-lined Stainless Steel Food Jar. Our jars are made for small hands in mind and provide tough rubber grips for a non-slip hold and are scratch-resistant to boot. These features make our food jars perfect for a quick snack in the back of the car between school and that after school sport's event or class.

Stop filling your child up on the fast food fare, when you can pack a healthy wholesome meal or snack that will stay hot or cold until they are ready to enjoy it. You will not only feel good about the nutritious food options you have, but you will save time, money and energy. Every household should have at least one of these convenient and reliable containers. Grab a Stainless Steel Food Jar today and see the difference you make in your child's life.
